DUMPED. This is what happened when this large shovel of Nelson and Ellberg's went off the road and over the bank at the concern's gravel pit in Glade Friday. The operator, Ernie Ellberg, leaped to safety.

RESCUE NO. 2. After rescuing the Rosenquist dog from the icy waters Friday, Fireman Babcock, with assistance from Fireman Paul Drescher, dragged a second dog to safety from the river. The animal, which belongs to a Groves boy, had gone over the bank to help his companion and also became stranded.

TO THE RESCUE goes Fireman Merritt Babcock, but this time he wasn't battling fires. Instead, he is answering the sad plea of Larry Rosenquist's dog who became trapped in the ice along the Allegheny at the West Side Friday. Police officer Jerry Parks wrapped the dog in a blanket, warmed the poor animal up and returned it to its happy owner.

REHEARSAL was the name of the Christopher Morley play presented by this cast for Warren Players' studio production last Thursday. Carrying roles in the one-act play were (l. to r.) first row -- Sue Myers, Andrea Kirk and Nancy Nichols; second -- Judy Gilson, Beth Francis and Betty DeLong; standing -- Mary Harland, director.

FIRST HALF CHAMPS. Playing off a first place tie, the K. of C. team defeated Emersons 63 to 59 to win the YMCA-City league first-half championship on the "Y" court last Thursday night. Both teams finished the initial round with 6-2 records.

BELONGING TO CONELRAD brought government recognition to WNAE and the Warren County Civil Defense organization. Here David Potter (left) and W. C. Fuelhart display the certificate which they received for service to the United States government. If an enemy attack begins during the hours that the Northern Allegheny Broadcasting Co. is off the air, the alarm will be sounded in Warren through the Bell Telephone alarm system and WNAE staff members will be awakened. They will go into Conelrad immediately to meet the emergency.

WHEN THE RED LIGHT GLOWS on this monitor receiver, WNAE knows that KDKA has gone off the air. By turning up the volume they can tell immediately that it is not a false alarm. If it is really an enemy attack they go immediately into Conelrad. KDKA is monitored constantly while WNAE or WRRN-FM are on the air.

Conelrad — Protection Through Confusion

By Lewis Crippen

A lesson learned from Pearl Harbor may result in protecting American cities and vital industries from enemy air attacks. Japanese planes, we were informed on the Air Power series on TV, used the Honolulu station as a beacon when they disabled the American fleet in the infamous December 7, 1941 attack. Even with a simple directional finder which indicates with a pointing needle when the plane is following the strength of the radio beam, planes could locate and follow radio transmitters in any of the cities of our nation.

To confuse the enemy planes, national security researchers have developed Conelrad which is a contraction of Counter Electronic Radiation. Its simple purpose is to silence all television and F.M. transmitting and to broadcast intermittently from all Conelrad stations in the country on either 640 or 1240 kilocycles. The broadcasts would bring important information to the threatened populace and by alternately being on and off the air would make it impossible for the planes to pick up and keep on the beam to any particular city or target.

The protective program was originated almost four years ago and the local station has been required to test out the emergency broadcasting only once in that length of time. Conelrad regulations do require, however, that WNAE monitor another station each morning before coming on the air. Therefore, at approximately 5:45 a.m., WNAE's announcer listens to KDKA, Pittsburgh. If the station is broadcasting he knows that no emergency exists and Warren is permitted to broadcast on its regular 1310 spot. If the KDKA station is "off the air" Warren must immediately switch to 1240 and broadcast Conelrad information.

Twice per week Conelrad is tested -- once on a permanent schedule and the other test can come anytime. The morning monitoring of KDKA and the tests must be recorded and a report filed periodically. WRRN-FM is monitored by several other stations and is responsible for broadcasting two messages a week for checking purposes.

All transmitters in the Warren area are included in the program. This includes the Pennsylvania Electric Co., Pennsylvania Gas Company, the two taxi firms, the Sheriff's outfit, and the Volunteer Fire companies. If an emergency strikes you should turn to 1240 and listen for instructions as all frequencies will be dead except for the possibility of picking up some words over 640.

The Warren station's personnel advise that a delay up to 1/2 hour might be experienced from the time they realize an emergency exists and they shut themselves off the air until they can be operating again as Conelrad on 1240. The delay would be caused by locating an engineer and having him reach "radio summit" to tune in the 1240 frequency. Therefore, if Warren's WNAE or WRRN-FM is dead tune immediately to 1240 and wait until you hear a familiar voice.

In large cities, such as Pittsburgh, several stations can be on the Conelrad system. KDKA would control the broadcasting and would intermittently cut the other stations in and out of broadcasting. With the variation in the strength of the stations' power, the messages would be received at different levels of volume which would help in confusing the attacking planes.

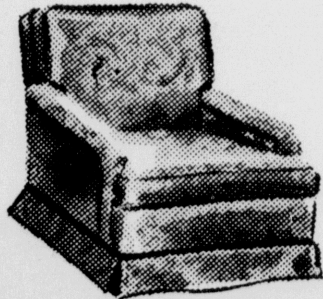

The Northern Allegheny Broadcasting Co. has volunteered to become part of the Conelrad program and the purchasing of additional equipment and the increase in engineering skill has been at its own expense. The government would like all companies in the system but nothing is paid as a federal subsidy.

The "Nightbeat" show features exciting and revealing interviews with prominent personalities.

THE UNIFORM STORY

CBS network owns the "West Point Story"; "Men of Annapolis" is distributed on an individual local station basis. How about a series on "Miss Peabody's Select School for Young Ladies"?

AMERICA NEEDS YOU IN THE GROUND OBSERVER CORPS!

HERE'S WHY:

The potential of modern military offense is such that a surprise raid against this country could cause tremendous casualties.

Our military defense is aware of this possibility. Air Force interceptor planes and Army anti-aircraft batteries are designed to repel such an attack.

But—if that attack ever comes—warning must come through in time! Citizen volunteer plane-spotters—ground observers—play a vital role in providing the necessary warning.

Already some 300,000 civilian Americans are contributing to the job of guarding our ramparts. I salute these Ground Observers for their patience, their perseverance, their patriotism.

But the job calls for twice their number to man these vital posts. Will you serve your country for two hours a week?

THE MAGIC SUITCASE, on the Science Fiction Theater at 7 p. m. Saturday tells of a mysterious stranger who leaves his suitcase behind, the contents of which baffle the world of science. Charles Winninger stars in this one.

NETWORK BATTLE shapes up in 1957. ABC is out to really compete with two major networks. In fact, in some fields it already is going strong. Nielson ratings for comparative half-hour programs during the week show ABC leading in ten cases, NBC leads in nine, and CBS in twenty-three.

ABC IS AFTER more stations, some of which it hopes to obtain by lining up newly built ones, and it also may be able to entice some away from other networks with tasty offers. It has signed Frank Sinatra, Walt Disney and other top names for next season, and hopes to have Pat Boone.

The income figures for 1956 reveal ABC increased its billing 55 per cent the first eleven months. CBS went up 18 per cent, and NBC increased 15 per cent. Biggest dollar total was the $203 million received by CBS. NBC totaled $170 million and ABC billed $70 million.

LOST IN CENTRAL Park will be George Gobel, Saturday evening, and his rescuer will be Ray Bolger. Fascinating combination!

ROUNDUP TIME in Texas will be seen on Wide World, Sunday, 4 to 5:30, when cowboys will herd a thousand head of cattle for the cameras on the Hildreth ranch. The cutting and quarter horses will be demonstrated and the general workings of a roundup will be graphically displayed.

MEET THE PRESS will have Senator Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) on the pan Sunday. He is chairman of the Armed Services subcommittee which is investigating the nation's air and atomic strength.

THE WORLD STOOD STILL, for a week at least, according to the drama to be produced by Robert Montgomery, Monday, 9:30, NBC-TV. It concerns the work of Birger Dahlerus, played by John Beal, and his effort to bring London and Berlin to terms during the week preceding the Poland blitz.

BUYING A USED CAR?

If you are buying a used car the February issue of Consumer Reports should be of value to you. There is an article on used cars in which the weaknesses and strengths of various models are discussed. The best buys in old models of each make are listed, and the weaknesses of all makes are charted.

Using the report you can check all models back to 1950. The greatest source of trouble in each model is listed as obtained from owners of cars who answer Consumer Reports questionnaires.

The article also tells you how to make simple checks on a potential purchase. Signs that indicate rough driving or long use are pointed out, and there are photographs describing how you should inspect various points.

There also is a price guide for models back to 1950, as of January, 1957. This is not absolute but gives you an approximate idea of a car's worth if in reasonably good condition.

We suggest a couple other moves, which may also be mentioned in the article. We did not read all of it. You should ask who owned the car. A call to that person may reveal many facts about the car. And a reputable dealer should not hesitate to show you the work or shop sheet on the car if it has been overhauled.

REDUCING HOUSE COSTS

We haven't seen the results of the recent house survey made in Warren and the surrounding area, but we do know that the cost of building homes this year may be reduced through popular demand. This doesn't mean it will cost less to build a home, but it does mean home-buyers will settle for less expensive ones.

It has been the sad experience of many contractors that expensive homes, loaded with the latest gadgets and the most costly plumbing, have been difficult to sell. Though people want these things, and believe they are what every home should have, they cannot, or will not, pay the price.

The result is that just plain homes will be built this year, at an average cost under $15,000. In fact, many will be built for less than $10,000. It is the only price within the reach of the working man who must first save the down payment before he can get off the ground. He is lucky to keep a family and save the down payment on a $10,000 to $12,000 home. When the down payment has to be $10,000, he isn't a prospect.

A very interesting article on this subject may be found in the January 25 issue of the Wall Street Journal.

NEW INDUSTRY HELP

An eight-page booklet is being circulated by the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce which is called "Plant Location Services". In it is outlined the services made available for plants which are looking for sites in this state. Involved are the Bureau of Community Development, Bureau of Industrial Development, Bureau of Vacation and Travel Development, and the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority.

They are covering quite a spread, with a budget of about $12-1/2 million to finance industrial development research, industrial promotion, travel promotion, planning, zoning, urban development grants, and services to municipalities. They will help a plant find a location that fits its needs in the state, or they will help a municipality find a plant to employ its manpower.

Obviously the state, and industry, find most interesting those areas where there is a labor surplus, a variety of skills, and the necessary facilities, such as water supply, power, and transportation. This and much other data is required of any community which wants to participate.

There also is money available for financing. Second mortgages are available to community non-profit corporations. The state will loan up to thirty per cent of construction costs, with a minimum of 2 per cent interest, 25 years to pay, in labor surplus areas.

Actually this brochure is intended for the prospective industry which might be attracted to Pennsylvania. Ten thousand copies have been distributed to executives, consulting engineers, realtors, editors of business papers, and other leaders of industry throughout the United States.

Obviously, if your community wants an industry and can qualify, it should have its assets on file with the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 2

Selecting the Correct Form Saves Tax Dollars

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

The government gives you the alternative of using the simplified income tax form 1040-A, the "short form" 1040, or the "long form" 1040, depending on the amount and circumstances of your income. Selection of the wrong form may cost you unnecessary tax dollars.

The easiest form to file is the 1040-A, and according to Treasury records, one out of four taxpayers use it. To be eligible to file a 1040-A form your total income must be less than $5,000, consisting entirely of wages subject to withholding (or of wages, dividends, and interest, providing not more than $100 of such income came from a source outside that listed on your W-2 slips). The simplified form makes no provision for "Head of Household" status or itemized deductions. If you use this form the government will figure your tax and send you either a refund or a bill, if you so desire. However, for the first time this year, you can compute your own tax on form 1040-A and either send in the balance due with the return or show thereon the amount of refund you have coming.

Whether to Itemize

Should you decide to use the regular form 1040 you still have the choice of itemizing deductions or using a standard deduction which amounts to about 10 percent of your income. If your income was less than $5,000 and you use the standard deduction, you determine your tax from the special table given in the instruction book.

You are likely to save by itemizing if you:

- (1) Own real estate
- (2) Had unusual medical expenses
- (3) Had deductible child-care expense
- (4) Suffered losses from fire, storm, accident or theft
- (5) Made fairly large contributions

It is important to remember that if you incur such expenses as transportation, meals or lodging in connection with your work, check carefully the instruction book to find how these expenses may be deducted even though you decide to use the standard deduction.

If your deductions are close to 10 percent, it is wise to itemize them and figure your tax both ways to see which results in the smaller tax. As the Treasury Department has pointed out: "The law expects you to pay your correct tax—no more—no less."

Married Couples

Most married couples save tax dollars by filing a joint return instead of separate returns. This is because the tax is figured on a joint return as if the husband and wife each had one-half the total income (even though the wife may actually have had no income). Income-splitting, as it is called, may bring the couple down into a lower tax bracket.

Watch for the exceptions, however. If you had capital losses or unusually high medical expenses, you will be wise to figure both jointly and separately to see which results in less tax.

If you are supporting a dependent and maintain a home for that person although you are single, widowed, divorced or legally separated, you may be able to qualify as a "head of household," and figure your tax on a special table which gives you part of the advantage enjoyed by married couples filing joint returns.

Surviving Spouse

Also, if your husband or wife died in 1954 or 1955, and you have as a member of your household a dependent child or stepchild, you are entitled as a "surviving spouse" to the same income-splitting benefits this year as you would have on a joint return—unless you remarried before the end of 1956. The privilege to file as a surviving spouse applies to the first two years following the year in which your husband or wife died.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult a properly qualified advisor if you decide to seek outside help.

CONFERENCE PLAY

The Dragon cagemen of Warren high simply fell apart this past week while playing Section Two league competition. A practically winless Titusville quintet was first to knock the Dragons for a loop with a 65-55 score last Friday night, and Tuesday favored Meadville was overimpressive with a 66-36 win.

It was the Bulldogs 41st consecutive victory in conference play and number six for the current campaign. Early they slapped a 74-42 score against Oil City. Rounding out the week's play Titusville upset weakened Franklin by 54-49, Corry trimmed Oil City 55-36, and Franklin nudged Corry 59-58.

The Dogs now lead 6-0, Franklin, Warren and Corry have 3-3 accounts, Titusville is 2-4 and Oil City stands 1-5.

West Forest of Tionesta took over the Upper Allegheny Valley league by downing Youngsville 50-47. This dropped the Eagles into second place where they are tied with the Northern Area team. The latter pumped Tidioute 75-47. Defending Pleasantville beat East Forest 53-44.

This Friday the team goes to Southwestern in non-circuit action, and then visits Lincoln next Tuesday for a Jr. loop tilt.

FACTS ABOUT THE 1957 HEART FUND

WHAT IS THE HEART FUND?

The Heart Fund is the annual campaign for voluntary contributions to support a nationwide program against diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

WHO SPONSORS THE HEART FUND?

The Heart Fund is sponsored by the American Heart Association (the only national voluntary health agency working exclusively in this field), its 57 affiliated Heart Associations and their chapters.

WHEN IS THE HEART FUND CAMPAIGN?

The Heart Fund campaign is conducted February 1-28 throughout the entire nation.

WHAT IS THE HEART FUND THEME?

Hope is the underlying theme of the Heart Fund—hope that research, reinforced by education and community heart programs, will lead to eventual control of the heart diseases. The Heart Fund slogan is: "Help Your Heart Fund—Help Your Heart."

HOW IS THE HEART FUND SPENT?

The Heart Fund supports the research, education and community heart programs of the American Heart Association, its affiliates and chapters. Of funds raised, the major portion remains in the area of collection to support the programs of state and local Heart Associations. The Heart Fund makes possible a three-pronged attack against the heart diseases: Research: Since 1948, the American Heart Association, its affiliates and chapters have channeled almost $20,000,000 into research (largely looking toward discovery of the basic causes and controls of rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, which, together, account for more than 90% of all heart disease). Of the funds entrusted to the national office of the American Heart Association, at least 50% is allocated to heart research.

Education: Through its program of public education, your Heart Association seeks to eliminate needless fears and harmless misconceptions, as well as to encourage early diagnosis and treatment. Through its program of professional education, your Heart Association makes new knowledge about the heart diseases quickly available to physicians and members of related professional groups for the benefit of those with cardiovascular disease.

Community Heart Programs: The benefits of research are brought to individuals through community heart programs, as well as through their physicians. These programs are designed to protect healthy hearts and to enable heart sufferers to live as useful and productive members of society. Activities include improvement of diagnostic facilities, rehabilitation of industrial workers with heart disease, prevention of rheumatic fever, and work simplification programs to ease the burdens of cardiac housewives. Your Heart Association is not a direct-aid organization; it helps people to help themselves.

Oil Industry May Be Investigated

By Doris Fleenon

WASHINGTON -- The failure of the American oil industry to meet its quotas in the shipment of oil to Europe to make up for losses caused by the closure of the Suez Canal is likely to put that most-favored industry in the deepest trouble it has been in since the days when the trust busters broke up the Rockefeller oil monopoly.

It was revealed by Assistant Secretary of the Interior, Felix E. Wormser, that the American companies have been delivering only 65 per cent of the amount of oil needed to meet Western Europe's shortage. Persons close to the industry insist that in actuality the shortage in deliveries comes closer to 50 per cent.

Senators who have been incensed at the recent increase in the price of crude oil and its products have already threatened a full-scale investigation of the price increases. A number of them have had vigorous complaints from constituents who think that the oil industry has taken advantage of the Western world's troubles to increase profits. That investigation will begin Friday through the Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee of the Senate's powerful Committee on the Judiciary.

The revelation now that the industry is failing to deliver oil to Europe in required quantities is certain to produce heavy pressure for an even more extensive investigation than had been planned.

The oil industry is unique in the United States. It has tax allowances and privileges which set it apart from other segments of industry. Because of its preferred status it has been allowed very largely to regulate itself. Its failure in the present instance will surely bring its privileges into question.

Whether it likes it or not, the oil industry has become an arm of American diplomacy and a vital part of the defense mechanism. If the industry does not effectively serve the needs of defense and of diplomacy, say some Senators, then it will be essential that the government see that it do so.

The question in the minds of Democratic Senators is whether the industry or the Eisenhower Administration is properly to be blamed for the present situation. As in earlier emergency situations, such as World War II and the Korean War, committees from the oil industry, with special exemptions from the Department of Justice from the anti-trust statutes, effectively kept the free world supplied with oil. Such an emergency committee was established to deal with oil problems as a result of the closure of Suez. The trouble is, they say, that Interior Secretary Seaton has failed to use either his influence or his powers to persuade or force the oil industry to perform the needed job. They point out that instead of using his powers to enforce compliance, Secretary Seaton decided to plead with the industry and allowed this luckless task to fall on the shoulders of Assistant Secretary Wormser. If pleading instead of pressure was the method selected to be employed, they say, the job would have been better done by Seaton himself and preferably by President Eisenhower.

Whatever his reasons for handling the matter the way he has, Secretary Seaton is going to be questioned this week by angry Senators. He will be the second Cabinet member, following Secretary Dulles, to be put on the hot seat by the Senate Democrats. They have not been happy about Dulles; they will be less happy about Seaton.

The oil industry is deeply divided about the job of supplying Europe's oil deficit. The great international oil companies are on one side, the independents on the other. Not only profits but future positions are at stake.

The British have been angry at Texans whom they blame for taking advantage of their unhappy situation to gouge them in the price of petroleum and its products. They have what appears to be a logical basis for their displeasure. The Texas Railroad Commission, which regulates the production of oil in the state which possesses more than half of all the proved United States oil reserves, has refused to increase production quotas as a result of the emergency. But the recent price increases affect Americans as well as Europeans.

"MIRACLE WORKER" 1892 and 1957 on Thursday, February 7, CBS Television's "Playhouse 90" will present "The Miracle Worker" (9:30-11:00 p. m., WBEN-TV), dramatizing that period of Helen Keller's childhood when the blind-deaf youngster is transformed from a willful, animal-like child into a person capable of living with assurance among the unafflicted.

"The Miracle Worker" was Annie Sullivan, the teacher of the blind who came to live with the Kellers. Above, Miss Sullivan is seen in 1892 with Helen Keller, age 12; on the right Teresa Wright and young Patty McCormack rehearse these roles for the 90-minute drama. Burl Ives, Akim Tamiroff, John Barrymore, Jr., and Katherine Bard also co-star.

The oil industry is going to find that the Congress is not going to be easily appeased in the present situation. It is being asked to make great military and economic commitments in the Middle East, an area important to us chiefly for its oil. What Congress will want to know is whether an industry for which we make such commitments, is capable of deserving them.

One interesting result of the situation that the oil industry is finding itself in today is that the future of the bill freeing natural gas from Federal regulation is now much beclouded. It seemed almost certain of passage at the beginning of this session of Congress. Its passage has been placed in doubt.

HAL MARCH, in the role of an ex-television comedian who is trying to make a comeback through the nightclub circuit, is shown doing a comedy act flanked by comely show girls Zarha Norbo, left, and Mildred Hughes in "Tale Of The Comet" which will be presented on "Studio One," Monday, February 4, at 10 o'clock (WBEN-TV).

In other action taken by the board Neil Culbertson was appointed chairman of a special committee to reevaluate the report of Dr. John R. YOU SHOULD READ

If you are interested in the national budget (and if you are not don't kick about your taxes) there are two articles in the January 28 issue of The New Republic which you should read. An article on Page 2, signed by T.R.B., quotes from a campaign speech of October 2 in which President Eisenhower said his goal was to cut the budget to $60 billion. It then quotes from the budget message of January 16, in which he recommended $71.8 billion.

This of course ties in very closely with the war situation. Again there are quotes from 1956 statements on peace, such as Secretary Dulles' April 21 and October 29 statements in which he said there had not been so much promise of peace in many years and criticized the opposition for painting a picture of doom and gloom abroad.

But after the election he said on January 15 that the Mideast peril was most serious in ten years. On January 16 he said rejection of Ike plan could lose Africa, and in testimony on January 15 he said the situation was more dangerous than at the time of the Berlin airlift, and that . . . events could lead to war.

Inasmuch as budget and war are very much related, this article and a budget article, "The Best We Can Do?," are worth reading.

PLAY ATTRACTS THE BEST

Any business executive whose job it is to find top level personnel will tell you that one of his biggest problems is the lack of recreational facilities in this area. The chemist, engineer, auditor, metallurgist, or specialists in any line usually has some sport he greatly enjoys and one of the first questions he will ask about his prospective new home town is the availability of facilities to provide his pleasure.

One of the most common inquiries concerns golf. It has become a sport which is much in demand by all ages and both sexes. Given good schools, a golf course, playgrounds, and a swimming pool, the average man of talent can be induced to locate in your community. But even a higher salary than that offered by other plants will not entice him if his family cannot play as they are accustomed.

We believe a swimming pool will be located in Warren within the next two years, or at least as soon as the high school is built. The playgrounds are being improved annually. Next in line is a golf course.

And why not a golf course? If wisely done it need not cost so much that it is out of our reach. It should be near Warren, on reasonably flat ground with enough contour to make an interesting course, consist of a farm with house and barn, and have reasonably good top soil.

We are sure that local industry would readily support such a project if the plans were practical and economical. But someone, or some group, must do it. It won't just walk up to our border, plant its nine flags and say "play me".

GOLF FOR BEGINNERS

Golf lessons for young people of Warren may be offered by Skip Morine and Frank Sirianni this summer. They are taking over Bill Simonsen's driving range for the season and may attempt a program for young people through the schools and through the playgrounds. Details have not been worked out but they are hoping to give a mass start to the game for numerous boys and girls who otherwise would not see a club until they were big enough to drive elsewhere for the sport, or until they went to college.

PARAMOUNT 1957 PLANS

Movies announced for 1957 by Paramount Pictures, all in Vista-Vision, include some familiar titles and names, ranging from Desire

Under the Elms to Alfred Hitchcock's From Among the Dead.

Surprising is the reunion of Jerry Lewis and Dean Martin in Sad Sack. Eugene O'Neill's Desire Under the Elms is being played by Sophia Loren and Anthony Perkins, with Don Hartman directing and Irwin Shaw adapting.

Cary Grant will do Houseboat, Yul Brynner will be seen in Cecil B. de Mille's production of The Buccaneer, Clark Gable and Doris Day will work together in Teacher's Pet.

James Cagney will turn director when he features Robert Ivers, a newcomer, in Shortcut to Hell.

Don Hartman in addition to Desire Under the Elms will produce The Matchmaker, Thornton Wilder's stage hit, in which will be seen Shirley Booth, Anthony Perkins, and Shirley MacLaine.

Another musician will be biographed. This one will be jazz trumpeter Red Nichols, played by Danny Kaye. Anna Magnani should prove an attraction in Furia.

A FIRST was enjoyed by the South Street school third grade Brownies Tuesday when they were guests of the Warren General hospital. Guided by their leaders, left to right, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Robert

FEAR KILLED this deer which is seen swimming in the Allegheny river just off the bank from Crescent Park, opposite the Warren General hospital. The animal had come from upstream and was resting under the bank when she was disturbed by curious humans. She dived back into the stream and here is seen heading for the north side. She finally came out back of Struthers but was so beaten by the ice, walls, and bank that an officer shot her as she lay injured under ice and brush.

A SUCCESSFUL 11th annual Sports Boosters banquet was staged at the Beaty cafeteria Wednesday night in honor of Warren high school seniors and varsity lettermen.

Among those present for the occasion were (l. to r.) William E. Rice, Burgess; Greg Mulleavy, manager of the Montreal Royals, guest speaker; Mrs. Wendelboe; Nick Wendelboe, Jr., Sports Boosters president; LeRoy Schneck, emcee; and Ted Marchibroda, Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback and guest speaker.

BOWLING

TOUGH ON MEN

The Fanatorium Majors, team on which Marion Ladewig bowls, participates in two men's leagues. Recently they had 3068 in one of these circuits. The next night they fired 3004 in the other. Ladewig posted 602 and 684. And the same week she had 679 in another league. The Grand Rapids lady now has a 205 average for 45 games.

HOT

Ray Schanen was demonstrating bowling to Marquette university students when he came up with a 300 game. He then rolled 258. And just to show how it was done he rolled a third and produced a 300. Total, 858! And in another practice session he rolled 876. There is a man who should practice more.

Some of the tv sweeps give a car away for the high score posted in a 13-week period. Two of these were "stolen" on the final nights. In New Jersey, Dick Hoover had 676 on the board and one night to go. Lou Campi came along and rolled 759 that final evening. In Detroit, Buzz Fazio had everything but the license for a car. His 788 was on the board and there was one night left. Tom Hennessey comes along with an 804!

MANY 600's

Pete Juliano came along also this week, with 256 and 682 in the City league. A tap on a good hit probably cost him another 700. Also in the City league was a 608 by Dean Whitaker and a 602 by Art Michel.

Myer Pappalardo grooved them for 628 in the Industrial. Dave Fink poured 621, Buck Baumgrotz had 611, Bob Schussler hit 608, and Barney Senger had 605.

Tony Bonavita rolled 233 and 611 in the Exservicemen's. Jim Akeley totaled 607 in the Merchants, Ed Nugent had 605 in the Commercial, and Ray Baughman posted 604 in the Sylvania where Ed Hileman spilled a 244 game.

Baldy Anderegg had 591 in the Junior Industrial, John Salamon 554 in the American K of C, Dick Byers 533 in the National Forge, Tom Musante 532 in the National K of C, Elge Flick 507 in the Penn AJBC Junior, Tony Bonavita 488 in the Shop, and Chuck Prigent 480 in the Junior.

In a special match Warren junior teams split with Jamestown at the Penn. One Warren team beat Jamestown, 1958 to 1944. The other lost, 2287 to 2275. Elge Flick led both Warren teams with 473. Bill Henry led the winning team with 436.

MIXED

Busty Pintagro with 572 and Kay Carbon with 386 led the Tuesday mixed league. Phyllis Rieder with 444 and Al VerMilyea with 533 led the Friday couples.

LADIES

Ro-ro Juliano combed those pins for 521 in the City league for the best of the week. Jeannette Harvey hit 513 in the City, and Nina Mack had a 203 game.

Barb Weiland spilled 517 and Rose Hand, 513, in the Major. Elaine Finley had 472 and Helen Pusateri twice picked up the 4-7-10 split in Peg's league. Patsy Hoffman shot 430 in the Minor, Connie Strandburg, 425 in the Automotive, and Edna Magee, 424 in Class C.

State Education Plan Law Is Revised

A special advisory committee of the State Council of Education today drafted major changes to the proposed reorganization of the county level of school administration into intermediate service areas.

The new draft of the tentative legislation will be submitted for approval to the State Council on January 30. After review by Governor Leader and the Joint State Government Commission the revised bill will be presented to the General Assembly for enactment.

The major changes to the original plan are:

- (1) a relaxing of the requirements for a county or a group of school districts to form an intermediate service area.
- (3) elimination of the terminal date of 1962 at which time all school districts would have been required to form a service area.

The amendments, based on the recommendations of county superintendents and school directors at a December meeting of the advisory committee, now permit formation of about 47 areas which would provide the service originally intended and which would be more easily administered. The removal of the terminal date of 1962 makes the formation of intermediate areas entirely voluntary on the part of county and local school administrators.

As originally conceived and approved by the State Council, the plan called for the creation of approximately 37 regional school service areas to replace the present county-level organization. Its purpose would be to provide all children of the Commonwealth with certain educational services not now available because of the disparity between strong and weak county school administrations.

Each intermediate school service area, once established, would be managed by a board of school directors elected from the member school districts. This board, in turn, would elect an intermediate area superintendent who would carry out the board's directives with a staff of coordinators, each having an educational specialty. In addition, a school directors association, consisting of all school directors in an intermediate area, would offer guidance to the elected officials.

County superintendents and assistant superintendents who are not elected intermediate area superintendents become part of the staff of coordinators until their terms of office expire, at which time they may be reappointed as the board of school directors desires.

Simply described, the plan provides for a redistribution of county school administrative personnel with probable extension of their duties. But it does not interfere with the rights of local school districts to run their schools as they see fit. They will lose none of the educational services they now offer, and they may call upon the intermediate area to make available those services they do not have.

JAY WILTSIE

Jay Wiltsie was the honored and "surprised" guest at a party given on his 79th birthday by his sister, Miss Mildred Wiltsie on January 25.

Guests present included his son, Gaylord Wiltsie, Jamestown; Richard Enos, Ray Shield, Dave Van Orsdale, Clarence and James Akeley, Harold Hovis, Harry Pearson, Elburn Briggs, Wayne Fay and John Young.

The men enjoyed progressive pinoche during the evening with prizes going to Wayne Fay and Harold Hovis. Consolation prizes were given to Elburn Briggs and Clarence Akeley.

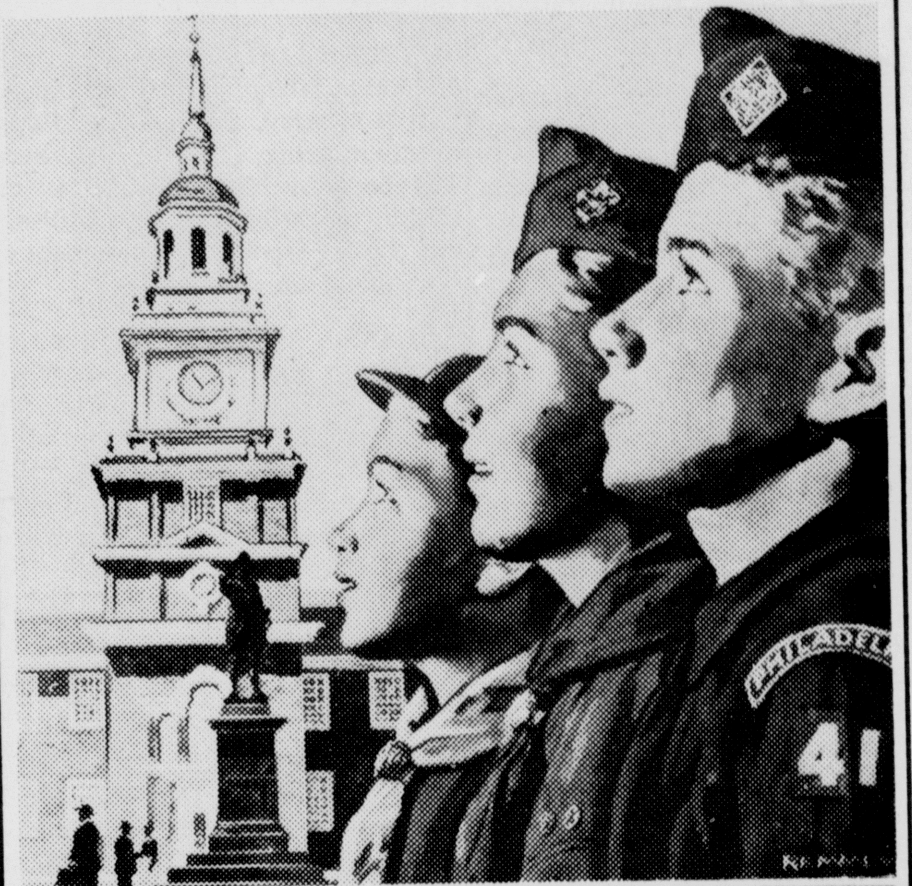

The guest of honor was presented a card signed by all present stating that a gift was ordered and being shipped.

Refreshments were served by Miss Wiltsie.

Mr. Wiltsie operated a grocery store in Russell for 30 years and has spent the major portion of his life in this area.

OFFICIAL BOY SCOUT WEEK POSTER

More than 4,500,000 Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorers, and adult leaders throughout the nation will observe Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12, marking the 47th anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

Through its Four-Year Program, "Onward for God and My Country," the organization seeks to train more boys in patriotism and character so that they will become intelligent citizens with an appreciation of the free way of life and a dedication to high spiritual ideals.

Boy Scout Week observances will feature preparation for the Fourth National Jamboree, which will find 50,000 Scouts and leaders camping where Washington camped at historic Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, next July 12 to 18. The nation's 111,000 Scout units will feature rededication ceremonies on February 8, the actual birthday of Scouting in America.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

THAT DAM AGAIN

The recent flood scare kicked the Kinzua dam talk loose again, and one Pittsburgh Press writer did a five-column review in the second section of that paper's Sunday edition that covered many of the highlights that have been pounded out by this writer down through the years. We see no need to review.

After last spring's record flood most Warren residents were convinced that the dam was the real answer. That decision now is behind us. What we want is action on the dam, or a method of control equally as good. Army engineers are quoted as saying that the delay now is being caused by the Seneca Indians who refuse to let us flood about three thousand acres of their thirty thousand. But the engineers also have been quoted as saying that they expect to have that problem cleared up so that they can start surveying next fall.

* ANOTHER OPPONENT

In view of our present sensitivity to high water all of us are vitally interested in any effort to block construction of the dam. We have been told that the Western Pennsylvania Clean Streams Association will go on record at its March meeting as being opposed to the Kinzua dam. Now, there is a new twist.

From what we hear the Clean Stream boys are coming up with all the standard arguments against the dam which have failed to hold water in the past. It seems strange that such an organization would fall for this line.

The basic purpose of the Kinzua dam is clean water. It was the original reason for planning it. If these members of the Clean Streams group really are interested in their subject, why haven't they studied the Ohio River Report? This explains the entire plan for these streams, even to giving you the bacteria count for any given area.

In fact, the count of various kinds of bacteria.

This ought to be one of the basic manuals of any group fighting for clean streams, and if they haven't progressed this far they aren't qualified to even discuss the Allegheny or related waters.

It seems quite obvious to us that a steady flow of water throughout the summer months would provide a cleaner stream. If there are a million bugs in a cubic foot of water at average level, there certainly must be a million bugs in a quarter of a cubic foot when the stream drops seventy-five per cent. A gulp of the million per foot will provide less contamination for those who are enticed to our area for water sports.

Maintaining a high level of fresh water in the summer and early fall also will make the present sewage law violation by many of our communities less obvious. They should be pulling for the dam with the same effort they use to dodge the responsibility of building sewage plants.

* RECREATION LOSS?

We have been tipped off that the Clean Stream aggregation will argue that the dam will eliminate a beautiful recreation area. They should look again. It is the first time we knew that the creation of a lake would not provide recreation. We suspect that there will be more camps, boats, and people enjoying the stream near Kinzua than ever has been the case before.

In addition, hundreds of miles of stream between here and Pittsburgh will be improved for outdoor pleasure. A cleaner stream certainly will encourage more cottages, boats, fishermen, and swimmers. Certainly the W.P.C.S.A. will agree to that or why does it exist? And if it is so, miles of clean Allegheny as provided by a dam should be approved by them.

* AND TRANSPORTATION

There is another angle to this water flow that must not be overlooked. We do have river transportation about half the way from Pittsburgh to Warren. Certainly a steady flow of water will be very helpful to the locks and barges. Dry periods will not interrupt the progress of water transportation, if we control the supply so as to eliminate such periods.

For this reason we never could see why the river transportation gentlemen could fight the dam with a straight face. As stated by engineers, show us the business and we will take barges over the dam. And meanwhile, barge business downstream from it should grow.

* We also are under the impression that at least some members of the Clean Stream organization have fallen for the one about the small amount of flood help the dam would be to Pittsburgh. Frankly, who cares? We primarily are thinking of the upper area where we live. By protecting that we certainly will not hurt Pittsburgh even if we don't help it.

And we suspect that those who say the dam will not change the height of water more than an inch at Pittsburgh are mouthing propaganda. To reduce the water flow at Warren by about thirty thousand cubic feet per second certainly would be a reduction of the flow by a similar amount at all points down stream. Would this mean only an inch at Pittsburgh?

Perhaps this talk of going on record against the dam is only the talk of a misinformed few. If so, the better informed should be prepared to remind all their members that the purpose of the Western Pennsylvania Clean Streams Association is to be found in the name. The dam will give you a cleaner stream and will protect us from millions of dollars worth of damage from floods. Fair enough?

Television and Radio

By John Crosby
THE LARGO DESIGN

Being a television news commentator on the same network that also has Edward R. Murrow is a little like a catcher on a team that also has Roy Campanella. You just don't get to play very often no matter how good you are. This has been the position of Eric Sevareid at CBS which has an embarrassment of riches in the news department.

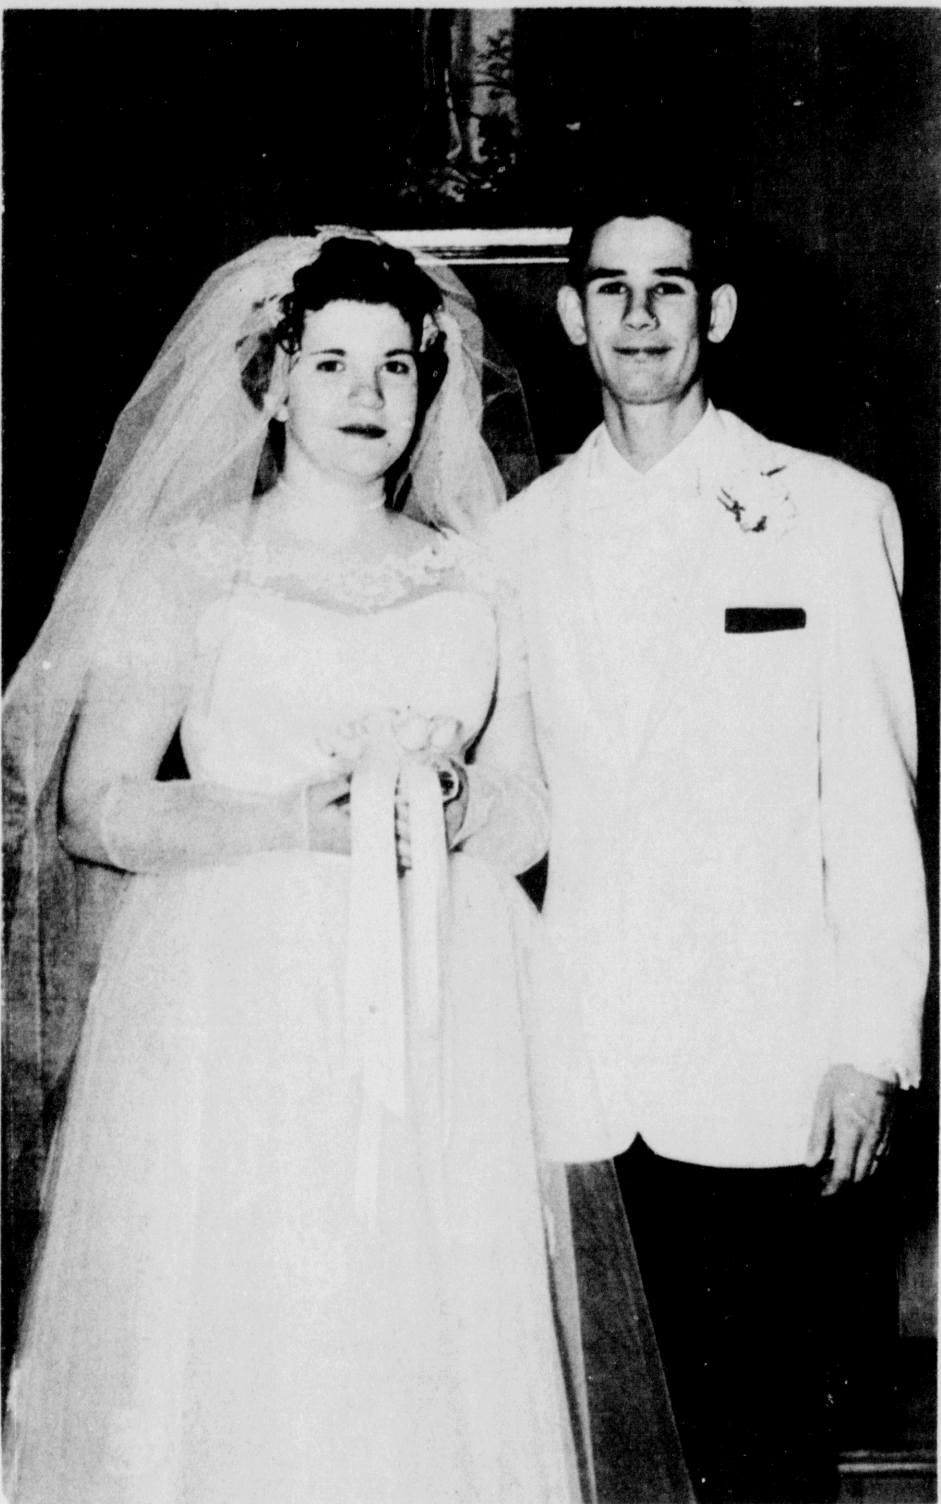

In an effort to use Sevareid's very real talents, CBS now has given him his own program "World News Roundup" at 3:30 p. m. EST Sundays, a rather unfortunate time, and perhaps too, an unfortunate concept for him. Here again there is an embarrassment of riches - too much news in a week for half an hour, too many correspondents abroad to be heard from, a little too much of everything.

Last Sunday, for example, there was David Schoenbrun on a Paris street corner talking about Poujado, the French Fascist who was later to take a thorough licking in an election; Winston Burdett from Rome, on Italian Communism; Ernest Leiser from the Ruhr, talking about the German industrial revival; Howard K. Smith by telephone on Britain's attitude toward a common market in Europe; a filmed bit from an Austrian refugee camp; another bit about the weakening of the government bond market; and finally a very amusing bit about Lord Somebody-or-other who objects to the Americanization of English, not on the usual grounds that we are too vulgar or slangy but too bloody pretentious. ("Underprivileged," harrumphed his Lordship, is simply an American word for poor and why the devil don't we say so?)

These are an awful lot of different subjects to cram into one-half hour and, at the same time, they don't even begin to summarize the week's news. A weekly news summary must have been an attractive idea at a CBS editorial conference, sort of a TV equivalent of the weekly news summaries in the Sunday papers, but, like a lot of ideas that sound so good on paper, it would be terribly difficult to do really well on film. And I'm not sure Sevareid is not wasted in such an attempt.

The best thing Sevareid does is a five-minute essay now heard on radio. (That is, if radio is heard, which is debatable.) Something of this nature - in short, a filmed essay - on any one of the six or seven subjects tackled last week would be better than trying to tackle all of them at once. What I'd like to see is a program that would allow a little more - hell, a lot more - of Sevareid's brains and personality and point of view to poke through the maze of CBS facilities and foreign bureaus.

I have no objection to finding all these CBS correspondents on street corners scattered from Berlin to Singapore provided they are there for some unified purpose as part of some large, coherent design. That does not mean you have to spend half an hour talking about the Ruhr to the total exclusion of Italian Communism because there is a definite interrelationship. It is the interrelationship, the smooth moving from one subject to another so that one almost grows out of another, that should be the goal.

This would take a strong editorial grasp of the world situation and - well, let's face it - strong opinions which might not be just everyone's opinions. But Sevareid has all these qualifications if he is permitted to use them.

With the complexity of world news, I find more and more people want to know what somebody else is thinking, somebody they respect, somebody in a position to know. The average guy, I think, doesn't want somebody to follow slavishly but somebody to guide him or even somebody to disagree with him in order to clarify his own thinking.

In the dear old dead days of radio, Elmer Davis used to perform that function very well. Davis's special gift was to put a proper perspective on a news event, to make it fit sensibly into the pattern of world news, to scale it down to size. I think Sevareid has the same quality of mind, the same common sense, and, if anything, an even better grasp of words. Given his head, I firmly believe he could be one of the most influential - in the best sense of the word - commentators in broadcasting. So far he has been operating under wraps.

FOOD AND COVER BOOKLET

The fact that food and cover are most important in determining wild game populations is widely accepted by informed sportsmen as well as wildlife management professionals. But how to go about producing the best game habitat is a difficult problem for many persons and organizations.

Early in 1953 the Game Commission published a booklet that went a long way toward instructing amateur "game managers" in improving habitat for wildlife. Titled FOOD AND COVER FOR FARM

WILDLIFE, it was authored by John B. Sedam, then Supervisor of the Food and Cover Section of the Commission's Land Management Division. This free publication contained many photos and sketches portraying the "what, when, where and how" of plantings, cuttings and other practices which produce more small game, fur animals and waterfowl.

Recently the booklet was revised by Sedam and republished. It shows and tells the food requirements of each game or fur animal. Detailed information is given on such management techniques as field borders, winter cover crops, gully plantings, marsh and pond management, what trees, shrubs, vines and seed mixtures are best for wildlife, how to plant and cultivate them, and much more.

This practical booklet was produced as a guide to sportsmen who want to provide the necessities of life for wild birds and animals on their club grounds, dog training areas, or other lands under their control. It was published also in the belief that many farmers now consider wildlife a crop -- a product of the soil like corn or beef or timber -- and want to know how to produce more game and fur.

FOOD AND COVER FOR WILDLIFE is available as a conservation education service from the Game Commission's Harrisburg headquarters or from Field Division offices. It is not too early for anyone desiring to improve wildlife habitat to start planning spring work projects. This guide provides the knowhow to make them easier and much more successful.

GAME FEED PURCHASE CAUTION

Seed screenings may be obtainable at low cost per pound, but it is poor policy to use them as winter feed for game birds, a wildlife authority advises.

The buyer pays good money for dirt and chaff, which may constitute 1/5 to 1/4 of the mixture, and these do wildlife no good.

Weed seeds make up as much as 25% to 30% of the screenings, tests show. The distribution of them on agricultural land is unfair to the farmer and leads to poor public relations.

Therefore the best game bird food to buy, all things considered, is clean grain. For wildlife, the best all around winter food is yellow corn.

PA. BUCK BAGGED IN MARYLAND

As a rule, white-tailed deer do not travel more than a few miles from their place of birth. But when live-trapped and liberated in strange territory their instinct to find a locality to their liking often causes them to "make tracks."

A case in point is a deer that was trapped as a button buck at Letterkenny Ordnance Depot, Franklin County, January 22, 1956. This young deer was ear-tagged No. 526 and liberated in the South Mountains south of Shippensburg.

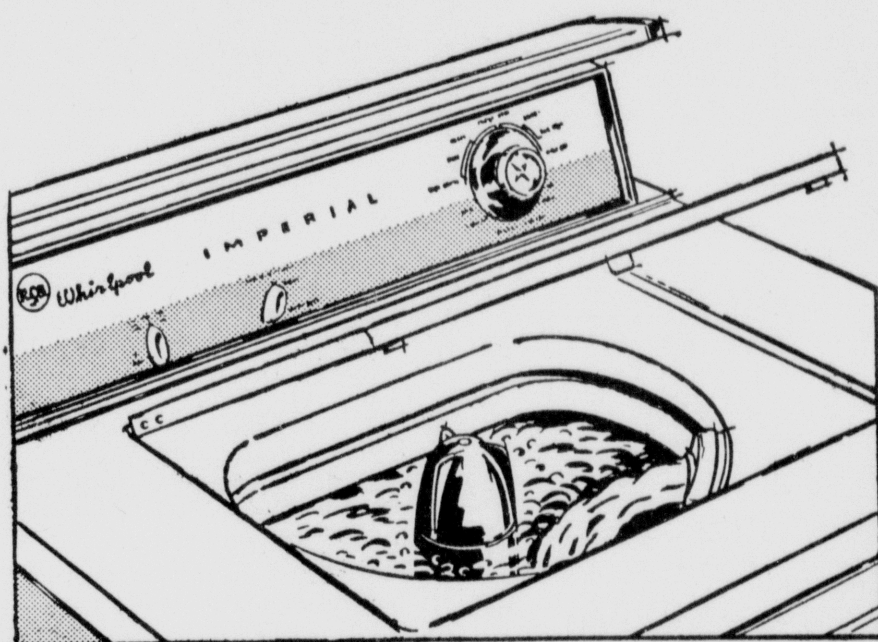

The Pennsylvania Game Commission recently received a letter from Chester M. Kerns, Chief of Game Management for the Game and Inland Fish Commission of Maryland. Kerns reports this tagged deer, was killed by a sportsman last December at a point two miles southeast of Emmittsburg, Md. The distance from the point of release to the place where the buck was bagged is over 20 miles.

Interestingly this deer, released as a button buck, when killed ten to eleven months later, was an 8-point 135-pound animal.
